Have You Discussed H1N1 with Your Employees? You Should.

Speakers Eric Gabrielle and Jon Stage

According to a national poll conducted for Mansfield Communications, more than two-thirds of workers say they have received no communication from their employer about workplace policies regarding H1N1. The United States Centers for Disease Control says, "businesses and employers, in general, play a key role in protecting employees' health and safety, as well as in limiting the negative impact of influenza outbreaks on the individual, the community, and the nation's economy." Join us as we discuss ways to put a plan in place and effectively communicate the plan to your employees.
