About Our Labor & Employment Department

We provide employers with practical, business-oriented counseling and candid advice on labor and employment issues. We work closely with clients to train their employees on workplace issues, audit employment practices, comply with wage and hour laws, draft employment agreements, protect trade secrets, realign workforces, and comply with EEO and affirmative action requirements and plans. Services also include representation in administrative and litigation matters, including at mediation and trial. In addition, we counsel employers on employee benefits and executive compensation and provide representation in ERISA litigation and before the IRS and DOL on plan audits.
